

CISM/ENVL122 : Agricultural Technology

This course covers topics related to the use of technology in modern agriculture. Students will learn to make informed agricultural observations and decisions related to raising crops and the basics of scouting for problems and helping to solve problems in commercial farms. Students are required to attend at least three field-trips to local farms.

Credits 3

Lecture Hours 3

Lab/Clinical/Field Study Hours 0