

HIST210: Women in American History

A survey of the social, economic, political and intellectual history of women from pre-Colonial times to the present. Within a chronological context, the course pays particular attention to women activists and political contributions. Meets the General Education requirement for History and Diversity.

Credits: 3

Lab Hours: 0

Lecture Hours: 3

Prerequisites:

ENGL101 or permission of instructor.

Program: History